The IPS Winter School will feature a Research Workshop that provides an opportunity for participants to present and discuss an academic work in progress (e.g., their PhD proposal; a chapter of their dissertation, or the draft of an article) with the faculty and other participants of the IPS Winter School. Drafts will be discussed by faculty and fellow participants and receive constructive and detailed feedback. The Research Workshop will take place on Friday of each week, in the afternoon. Drafts must be sent 15 days before their respective Research Workshop takes place (either in the first or in the second week of the Winter School). Besides presenting their own work, participants can also participate just as peer discussants, or simply auditing the presentations and discussions.

Would you like to take part in the IPS Winter School Research Workshop?
